

The Chapel of Unity at Coventry Cathedral

Service of 50th Anniversary Jubilee Celebration Sunday June 10th 2012 at 2pm.

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

We are sending you an invitation well in advance to what we feel will be a highly symbolic gathering of Christians. You are warmly invited.

The year 2012 will be a Jubilee year for The Chapel of Unity which was dedicated on 12th June 1962 at a service attended by national leaders of the various Christian denominations, and the General Secretary of the World Council of Churches, the Rev. Dr W A Visser't Hooft.

The Chapel of Unity is, we believe, unique in being part of the Cathedral building – physically linked to it – yet ‘owned’ by all the denominations: it is leased to a Joint Council of local churches which represent an ever widening circle of Christian denominations and ethnicity. The Chapel remains an active focus of prayer for Unity and worldwide reconciliation, justice and peace.

We do hope you will be able to attend with members of your congregation so that our gathering can be as inclusive as possible.

In due course, we will be planning the details of the event and the worship, and of course will keep you informed.

Please would you let us know if you can come.

Yours in Christ,
David Hawkey
